BSW-III:

During this academic session BSW-VI semester students had study tour at Melghat Area in Amravati District during 17th to 19th January 2023. Under the guidance of Officiating Principal Prof. Keshav Walke the NGOs were finalized and accordingly Permission letters were sent to respective NGOs. Six Voluntary Organizations (VOs) were identified for the visit and out of 56 students 45 have join the study tour. Students were oriented in the college with purpose of the tour and brief introductions of the Voluntary Organizations (VOs) to be visit. Various Committees like Finance, Health, Transportation, Discipline, Food, Time management etc. for the smooth functioning of the tour. Prof Keshav Walke accompanied the tour along with Ms Neeta Jagtap(Tour Director), Dr Priyanka Ambade and Mr Rohit Ujawane. Students visited following five VOs during the tour.

- 1. KHOJ at Paratwada: This Agency focuses on education, cleanliness, providing legal service to adivasis, educating them about govt schemes etc. Further this agency also educates the Adivasis to market the forest products to increase their economic sustainability. There were land acquisition issues of Korku tribe, and this Agency is helping them to get back their land by correct application of Forest land Act in the legal process. The agency is using a Garamsabha as tool to educate people so that they become watchful about various works going on in their village.

2. MAHAN Trust: Dr Avinash Satav is founder and Director of this trust. This trust work is working with aim of reducing Maternal Mortality Rate MMR and healthy community development. In the Carona period it worked on malnutrition, unemployment. The overall we can say that this trust is working on providing quality health services to the tribal community.
3. Lavada Sampurna Bamboo Kendra, Dharani: Late Mr Sunil Deshpande was the founder trustee of this kendra. The focus is to train Adivasi community in Bamboo products making to increase their earning through self-employment. This would also help for the community to obtain livelihood in the village itself so that their migration to cities will reduce. The marketing of bamboo products is done through exhibitions in major cities
4. Payvahir Gramsabha, Payvahir: This Gram Sabha mainly works for Korku tribal. It works to preserve forest, controlling grazing, prevent wood cutting, bass production, control jungle fire etc. Joint forest management mechanism is developed to regulate resources from forest to avoid overutilization of forest resources. KHOJ is technically supporting this Gramsabha. The main work of this Gramsabha is in the field of water conservation, Fish farming, Tenduva Production, and market survey for selling of these jungle products. Conservation, fish farming, Tendu leaves collection, custard apple selling and market survey for selling these forest products.
5. Dream Project Makhala: Mr Gajanan Kale, Founder Director guided students about water problem in rural area. He used local resources and trained Korku youth for production of medicinal products like massage oil, herbal products etc. This provides electricity livelihood, knowledge and technology to Adivasi communities. Due to these efforts the tribal community is moving towards self-sustainable development.

Evaluation of the study tour was conducted under guidance of Prof. Keshav Walke for the assessment of the study tour.

The tour was very interesting, and students have enjoyed through learning new innovative ideas of working in the society. Letter of appreciation was sent to all NGOs for their cooperation in the study tour. Evaluation Session of students was conducted under guidance of Prof. Keshav Walke to assess understanding of students about the NGOs visited. Also, the performance review of all committees was done.

MSW-II:

Education aims to impart knowledge and upgrade students' skills through the application of newly learned concepts. One effective method of providing practical and engaging learning experiences is through study tours. Experiencing something in real life can significantly enhance understanding compared to simply reading about it in a book. By organizing study tours that are relevant to students' academic pursuits, educators can facilitate better learning outcomes.

In the fourth semester of the Masters of Social Work curriculum, the study tour holds a vital role in concurrent practice learning. What makes the study tour special is that students are actively involved in all aspects, from planning to implementation. This hands-on experience enables them to develop various skills, including planning, management, budgeting, and decision-making. Additionally, student social workers from different specializations gain exposure to organizations working in core areas of social work.

The study tour took place in Puducherry, and under the guidance of the class director and the active involvement of students through various working committees, it provided invaluable opportunities to learn practical aspects of the work. By immersing themselves in real-world scenarios, students were able to apply their knowledge and gain a deeper understanding of the subject matter.

OBJECTIVES

The study tour aims to achieve the following objectives:

- Develop knowledge of development organizations and service agencies: Gain a comprehensive understanding of service extended to address specific problem situations in rural, urban, and tribal areas.
- Understand the philosophy, policy, structure, and strategies of development organizations: Explore the underlying principles, policies, organizational structures, intervention strategies, and programs employed.
- Acquire skills in planning, organizing, and implementing the study tour: Develop practical skills in effectively planning, organizing, and executing the study tour. This includes time management, communication skills, teamwork, conflict resolution, decision-making,

- Foster student involvement in tour planning and implementation: Create opportunities for students to actively participate in the planning and implementation process of the study tour, with guidance from faculty members.

By achieving these objectives, the study tour aims to provide students with valuable knowledge about development organizations, enhance their understanding of their functioning and interventions, and equip them with essential skills for effective planning and implementation in real-world contexts.

A. PRE-STUDY TOUR ACTIVITIES

As part of the fourth-semester requirements, students were mandated to organize and conduct a study tour. This involved a series of systematic processes that student social workers needed to undertake. The activities for the study tour were categorized into three phases: pre-study tour planning and management, during the study tour, and post-study tour concluding activities. Here is a brief overview of the activities within each phase

For the study tour, the students engaged in several planning activities. They conducted research and gathered relevant information about the chosen destination, which was finalized as Puducherry, based on their learning objectives. A planning committee consisting of 8 different committees was formed to oversee logistics, budgeting, scheduling, discipline, transportation, logistics, medicine, food, and reporting. The committees worked together to ensure smooth operations during the study tour. Four faculty members, maintaining gender ratio, accompanied the students during the tour.

Through discussions conducted in planning meetings, the students finalized seven organizations to visit during the study tour, encompassing all three specializations. The organizations included:

- SATYA SPECIAL SCHOOL
- HELP AGE INDIA
- LUKAS TVS LTD
- Sharana - Social and Development Organisation
- Hope Foundation
- SOCIAL WORK DEPARTMENT PONDICHERRY UNIVERSITY
- INDIRA GANDHI MEDICAL COLLEGE AND RESEARCH INSTITUTE

The students ensured that necessary permissions, permits, and accommodations were secured for the study tour. Pre-departure meetings were organized to brief participants on the objectives, expectations, and safety guidelines. Participants made sure they had the required travel documents and necessary vaccinations, if applicable.

B. Organizational visit:

During the study tour, the students had the opportunity to visit various organizations in Puducherry. On 22.02.2023, in the morning, they visited Satya Special School in Karuvadikuppam, Puducherry. This provided them with insights into special education and the challenges faced by individuals with disabilities. In the afternoon, they visited Help Age India in Ariyankuppam, Pondicherry, where they learned about the organization's work in supporting the elderly.

On 23.02.2023, the students visited Lukas TVS Ltd in Thiruvandarkoil, Puducherry, in the morning. They had the opportunity to understand the functioning of a manufacturing company and its impact on the local economy. In the afternoon, they visited Sharana - Social and Development Organisation in White Town, Puducherry, where they explored initiatives focused on community development and social empowerment.

On 24.02.2023, in the morning, the students visited Hope Foundation in Puducherry. They gained insights into the organization's efforts in providing healthcare and support to marginalized communities. In the afternoon, they visited the Social Work Department at Pondicherry University, where they engaged with faculty and students to discuss social work education and research.

On 25.02.2023, the students visited Indira Gandhi Medical College and Research Institute in Kathirkamam, Puducherry, in the morning. They had the opportunity to explore the medical field and understand the importance of healthcare services. These organizational visits allowed the students to gain practical exposure, learn from professionals, and broaden their understanding of various social work contexts.

C. Committee Work:

During the study tour, different committees played an active role in ensuring their specific tasks were carried out effectively. The logistics and transportation committee took responsibility for managing transportation arrangements, ensuring that all students were accounted for and providing directions to Puducherry. They worked diligently to organize smooth and timely transportation for the group.

Through the collective efforts of these committees, the study tour was successfully organized and executed, providing a valuable learning experience for the students while ensuring their safety, well-being, and comfort throughout the journey.

D. Reflection session:

During the study tour, a reflection session was conducted by the class director each day. This session served as a feedback and follow-up session. Feedback was obtained from both the committees and the students regarding their work on the particular day. Based on this feedback, corrective measures were suggested and implemented to address any issues or improve performance.

In these reflection sessions, the class director also briefed the students on the planned visits for the next day, ensuring they were aware of the schedule and objectives. The sessions also involved a follow-up discussion on the previous day's feedback and the implementation of any necessary improvements.

The reflection sessions were led by Dr. Payal Chamatkar on the first day and by the class director, Dr. Amen Xavier, on the following two days. During the second day, a SWOT analysis was conducted to assess the strengths, weaknesses, opportunities, and threats related to the study tour.

On the third day, an evaluation session took place where both the committees and the students evaluated their performance. This evaluation process utilized a participatory approach, allowing for self-evaluation by the committees and evaluation by the students. Based on these evaluations, an overall assessment of the committees was conducted.

The reflection sessions and evaluations provided valuable opportunities for feedback, learning, and improvement throughout the study tour. They ensured that the study tour remained focused on its objectives and that the committees and students actively participated in the evaluation and enhancement of their performance.

E. Evaluation and feedback:

Evaluation and feedback play a crucial role in the study tour process. Methods such as self-evaluation, peer evaluation, faculty feedback, and participant feedback are used. These provide insights for improvement. Students reflect on their experiences and identify strengths and areas for improvement. Peer evaluation encourages constructive criticism and assesses teamwork. Faculty members offer feedback on organization and alignment with objectives. Participant feedback informs satisfaction and enhancements. Analyzing this feedback informs future improvements. Overall, evaluation and feedback contribute to the continuous enhancement of the study tour experience. Dr Amen Xavier Kaushal functioned as a Tour Director and Dr Nandita Mane, Dr Payal Chamatkar and Mr. Prerit Bathri accompanied him.

13. ICSSR Research Project:

18.3 Cell for Women in Distress (Family Counselling Centre)

In view of the growing incidence of domestic violence against women, a novel concept of social work intervention through special cells for such women in distress was first experimented by TISS in Mumbai. Following the success of this experiment, similar cells were initiated in Nagpur in collaboration with the Nagpur Police Commissionerate. The institute took a lead in popularizing the concept and also set up one such centre, known as Family Counselling Centre (FCC), at Dhantoli Police Station on 15th December 1998. In 2017 Nagpur City police have opened a special cell called “Bharosa Cell” for dealing with cases of domestic violence and violence against women. Therefore, in 2017 the FCC was relocated at “Bharosa Cell” and two counselors are rendering services in the “Bharosa Cell”. It is financially supported by the Central Social Welfare Board, New Delhi. The centre offers counseling and guidance to the victims as well as to the perpetrators of domestic violence with a view to negotiating a violent free family life for the clients. It continued to deal with victims of domestic violence this year too, with the objective of giving an opportunity to victims of domestic violence to speak out in a non-threatening atmosphere, giving opportunities to the so called perpetrators of the crime to explain their view points and to arrive at a mutually agreeable decision. Dr Jyoti Niswade is functioning as the Director of FCC since past several years. From 1st April 2022 to 31st March 2023 the total number of cases registered at the Family Counselling Centre is 410. In addition, 38 cases from the previous years were followed up during this period. From the time of its inception in 1998, the total number of cases registered at the Family Counselling Centre stood at 4229 thus averaging 169 cases per year.

18.4 NAGPUR CHILDLINE 1098 – Nodal Organization

CHILDLINE is a 24-hour free emergency telephone help line service for children in difficult circumstances. It began its operations as a field action project of the TISS in Mumbai in 1996. Subsequently the project was up-scaled to other towns and districts in India. It functions under the aegis of the Ministry of Women & Child Development, GoI. CHILDLINE currently operates in more than 603 cities/districts, 144 railway stations and 11 bus stations across the 28 States and UTs through its network of about 1000 partner organisations across India. The Institute is one of the partner organizations of CHILDLINE since its inception in 1998, for the past twenty one years. In addition to the City CHILDLINE, Nagpur also has a Railway CHILDLINE which focuses exclusively on Nagpur Railway Station. In total 774 (1137 Intervention calls) needy children took benefit of the service during this year.

19.5 REPORT ON MINORITY RIGHTS DAY CELEBRATION

As per the directions of Director, Higher Education, Government of Maharashtra, dated 14/12/2022, the Matru Sewa Sangh Institute of Social Work, Nagpur, observed the Minority Rights Day by explaining the students the concept of minority and the rights of the minorities. They were informed about how The Union Government set up the National Commission for Minorities (NCM) under the National Commission for Minorities Act, 1992. The NCM adheres to the United Nations Declaration of 18 December 1992 which states that "States shall protect the existence of the National or Ethnic, Cultural, Religious and Linguistic identity of minorities within their respective territories and encourage conditions for the promotion of that identity."

They were informed about the various departments of the Commission and their objectives; the types of minority such as the Religious minority and Linguistic Minority. They were further informed about the two reasons for the establishment of this day viz., discrimination against the minority communities and the Promotion of equality and safeguards against their rights for dignified life. There were 5 minority communities earlier. Later, the Jain minority has also been included in the minority list in 2014.

Students were asked to write essays and articles on this topic in English, Hindi or Marathi. They were encouraged to give presentation on this topic and share their views.

Dr. Keshav Walke, Officiating Principal, Matru Sewa Sangh Institute of Social Work, Nagpur, encouraged the staff and students to organise programmes on such meaningful issues in the future as well. He further stated that as students of social work they should be aware of the importance of this day and spread awareness among the people. We can and should work towards the development of minorities. We all should work towards the maintenance of peace and communal harmony in the society.

19.6 Report on National Voters' Day Celebrations

As per the letter from the Department of Education, Government of Maharashtra dated 18 January 2023, National Voters' day was celebrated on 25th January 2023 by Matru Sewa Sangh Institute of Social Work (MSSISW). Students and the faculty of MSSISW participated in the programme. The main objective of the programme was to encourage young voters to take part in the political process. 27 students (12 boys, 15 girls) were present.

The resource person for the programme Dr. Baba Meshram said that to encourage young voters to take part in the political process, Government of India has decided to celebrate January 25 every year as "National Voters' Day". It has been started from 25 January 2011 to mark the foundation day of Election Commission of India. Every year, a different method is employed to mark this event. It not only promotes young people's involvement in politics but also emphasises that the right to vote is a fundamental freedom protected by the Indian Constitution. This year will mark the 12th annual National Voters' Day in 2023.

He emphasized the importance of Dr. B.R. Ambedkar's contribution in drafting the constitution. He quoted Dr. Ambedkar's words saying One person is equal to one vote and one vote is equal to one value. Hence, every individual irrespective of his caste, class, race, language etc is important. He further spoke at length on the importance of taking part in the election process.

Later all the staff and the students stood to take the pledge to uphold the democratic tradition of our country and the dignity of free, fair and peaceful elections. Dr. Keshav Walke, Officiating Principal MSSISW, encouraged the students to participate in large numbers to promote awareness among voters and to promote informed participation in the electoral process. Dr. Nandita Mane, the chairperson for the programme, urged the students to imbibe the values enshrined in our constitution and take part in the process of Nation building, Dr. Nandita Mane coordinated the programme, Mr. Lokesh Sonone of BSW III compered the programme and Ms. Twinkle Ukey of BSW III proposed a vote of thanks.
