Besides formal meetings, other avenues like conducting focus group discussions with the students were also used for monitoring and evaluation. Preparation of the Annual Report was yet another procedure adopted by the institution to monitor and evaluate policies and plans. The Annual Report of the Institute was meticulously prepared making all efforts to document all aspects on the implementation of the policies and practices of the Institute. Similarly the AQARs submitted to NAAC every year also provide a procedure for monitoring and evaluation. The IQAC also held informal interactions with the Students' Representative Forum (Council) for getting the immediate feedback for improving the quality of services.

Institutionalized Feedback System for Evaluation of Teachers by Students

Goal : The institute has been experimenting with ways and means of collecting feedback from the students in the best possible manner. The goal of the 'Feedback System for Evaluation of Teachers by Students' is to collect student feedback which touches upon three important aspects namely class room teaching, field work supervision and research project supervision, while ensuring complete objectivity and anonymity.

The Context : The Institute has been keen on improving its teaching-learning processes on the basis of feedback from its stakeholders. Besides, there has been a suggestion from NAAC to have proper systems in place for evaluation of teachers by students and using such evaluation for strengthening the quality of education. The IQAC of the Institute took this matter with utmost seriousness and decided to develop an efficient feedback system.

The Practice : All students are required to evaluate the teachers. For this purpose the Institute has introduced a complete feedback system for evaluation of teachers by students. The Feedback System has been designed to ensure complete objectivity and anonymity. It relies on collecting feedback through student feedback surveys while ensuring adequate response rates. The following are the salient features of this practice:

1. The system that is being followed is an 'end of the course' feedback collection system, which means the students are required to provide their feedback only once at the end of the academic session.

2. While it has been made mandatory for all students to fill in the feedback form, teachers are not given the responsibility of collecting feedback from the students, so as to ensure objectivity.

3. The feedback form is bilingual containing questions in Marathi and English. All the mandatory questions in the feedback form are close-ended in nature, with pre-coded responses, and in simple language. It is not required of the students to write anything in their handwriting, unless they so desire. Students are also not required to sign the form or write their name on the form. This is to prevent identification of the students by their handwriting, signature or name. While it is the IQAC that has been mandated to gather and process feedback, the actual responsibility of collection of feedback has been vested with the Librarian. The IQAC orients the students about the feedback collection. They are informed that confidentiality issues are taken very seriously and that their identity will not be revealed to anyone.

4. The system works like this: Students are oriented about the feedback survey by the IQAC team. They explain to students the purpose of collecting feedback from them, the methods that will be utilised, and how the feedback will be analysed and how and when the findings will be considered for improving the teaching-learning trajectory. They are encouraged to reflect on their learning experience and other relevant/associated matters. Feedback collection forms are kept with the Librarian. Before the students are issued their 'hall ticket', which allows them entry into the examination centre, they are required to obtain a 'no-dues certificate' from the library. For getting this 'no-dues certificate' from the library, the students have to return all the books that they have borrowed. Besides, they also have to sit in the library, fill in the feedback form and deposit it with the Librarian. This ensures that feedback is necessarily collected from each student, ensuring his/her privacy. The Librarian collects all such forms and submits the same to the Principal, who in turn hands it over to the IQAC for processing them. Thus, the system maximizes response rates (ensures cent percent response), ensures validity, encourages commitment and maintains confidentiality. (As a rule, if less than 60% of the students are surveyed for feedback such feedback is not deemed representative and therefore is not considered reliable).

5. After the feedback forms are processed, the IQAC submits a report based on it to the Principal, suggesting measures to be undertaken for enhancement of quality.

6. Based on such report, those teachers who are given poor rating by the students are encouraged by the Principal to improve their performance. Besides, suggestions given by the students are also considered for implementation.

Apart from the above system, the Principal also conducts unstructured 'Student Group Interviews' and FGDs with smaller groups of students and gain more insights about the Institute and the teaching-learning process.

Evidence of success :

i. Feedback is collected from cent percent students during the end of every academic session.

ii. Evaluation of every faculty member by his/her students has been made possible.

iii. Teachers are not aware of the students who gave positive or negative rating about them, and therefore there has been no unwarranted consequences like teachers' biases in internal assessment of students etc.

iv. Students have opined that they feel at ease while giving feedback as their identities are not revealed.

v. The IQAC is getting complete data about perspectives of performance of teachers by students.

vi. The Institute has been able to use feedback more in a more proactive manner.

Problems Encountered and Resources Required:

There is one lacunae in the system. There are some students who are not very regular in attending all the theory classes. Some of them also are not very serious about individual/group conferences conducted by the faculty in the context of field work or research work. The present system is unable to identify such students who are not competent to evaluate the performance of their teachers, as the survey forms do not require students to reveal their identity, as a measure for safeguarding confidentiality. This leads to the possibility of 'unreliable' feedback from a few 'not competent' students. However, as the number of such 'not competent' students is less than ten percent, their inputs are not likely to influence the results in a significant manner.

During the session 2015-16 150 students from CSW and BSW took part in the feedback activity. There were 7 students from CSW-I, 2 students were from CSW-II, 48 students were from BSW-I, 57 students were from BSW-II and 36 students were from BSW-III. Separate tables on satisfaction and dissatisfaction on theory classes, Social Work Practicum and the Research supervision are shown below. Teacher wise satisfaction and dissatisfaction is also shown in the separate tables.

Satisfaction regarding regular conduct of theory classes (in General)
